

Privacy Policy

Q Report is bound by the Privacy Act 1988 which defines how personal information is handled through a set of thirteen Australian Privacy Principles.

Q Report understands your concerns and appreciates the necessity for keeping not only our client's information private, but equally keeping your proprietary information confidential.

You have our assurance of this.

Q Report collects your client's personal information in order to create a Q Report insurance policy on their behalf. Q Report does not release your client's personal information to any entity other than the insurer - Chubb Insurance Australia Limited (Chubb).

Chubb is committed to protecting your client's privacy. Chubb's Privacy Policy can be accessed on their website at www.chubb.com/au.